

Sean Swarner

| Swarner Expeditions, LLC

OUTLINE

Sean

Accomplishments

Unique Corporate View

Creative Model

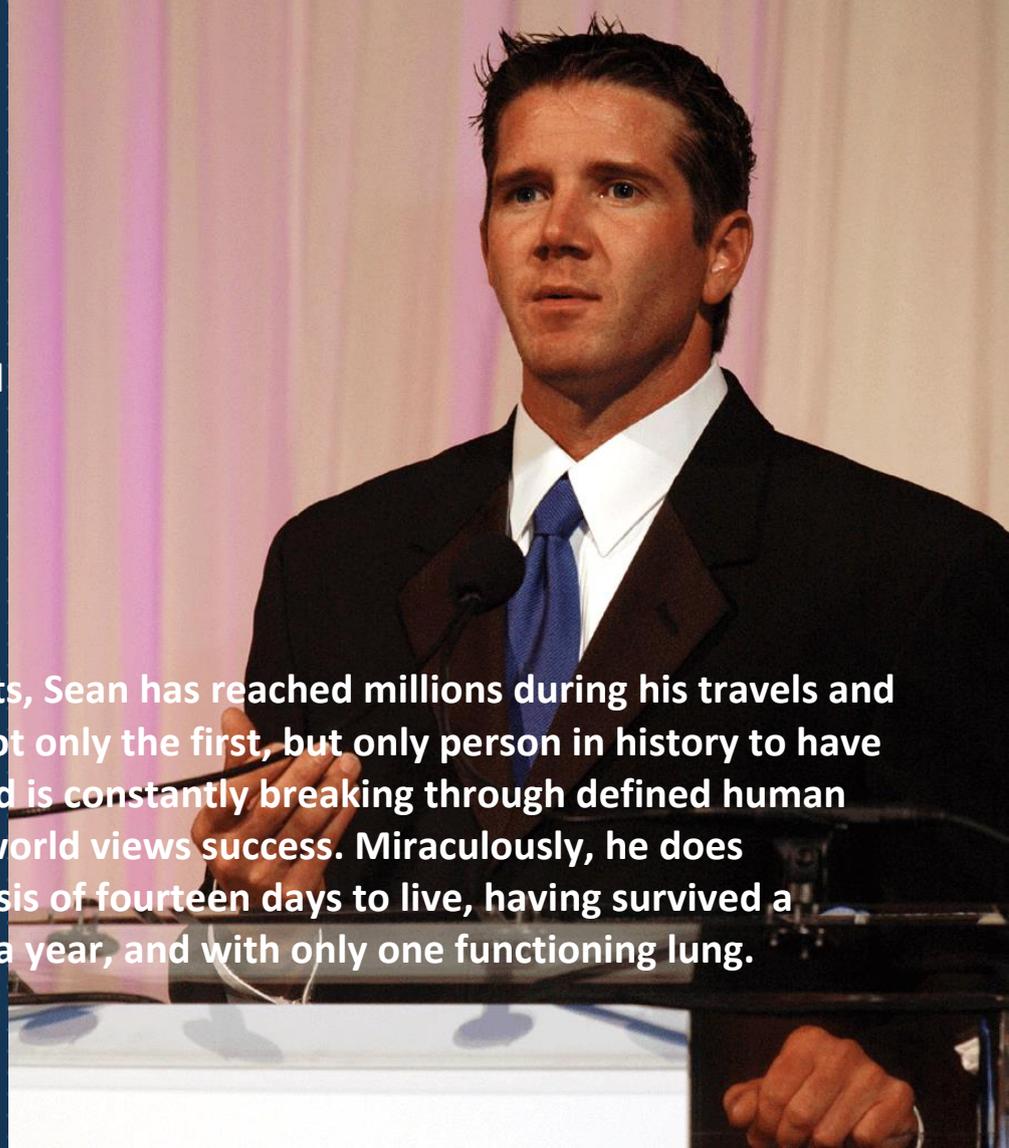

Clients

Ongoing Projects

“This is, without a doubt, the most inspirational story I have ever heard.”

SEAN

Sean Swarner was voted one of the world's top eight most inspirational people of all time. Receiving countless awards alongside such distinguished individuals as Archbishop Desmond Tutu, and climbing to the summit of the highest point on all seven continents, Sean has reached millions during his travels and speeches around the globe. He is not only the first, but only person in history to have accomplished his amazing feats, and is constantly breaking through defined human limitation, redefining the way the world views success. Miraculously, he does everything after receiving a prognosis of fourteen days to live, having survived a medically-induced coma for nearly a year, and with only one functioning lung.

ACCOMPLISHMENTS

Mt. Everest

Highest mountain in Africa, Europe, Antarctica, South America, North America, Australia

Hawaii Ironman Championship

Boston and NYC Marathon

- two cancers
- given three months to live
- given 14 days to live
- coma for nearly a year
- ONE LUNG....

Author: Keep Climbing

President/CEO Swarner Expeditions

Co-founder The CancerClimber Association

“Our expectations were exceeded by not only your speech but also the way you took the time to interact with anyone and everyone.”

UNIQUE CORPORATE VIEW

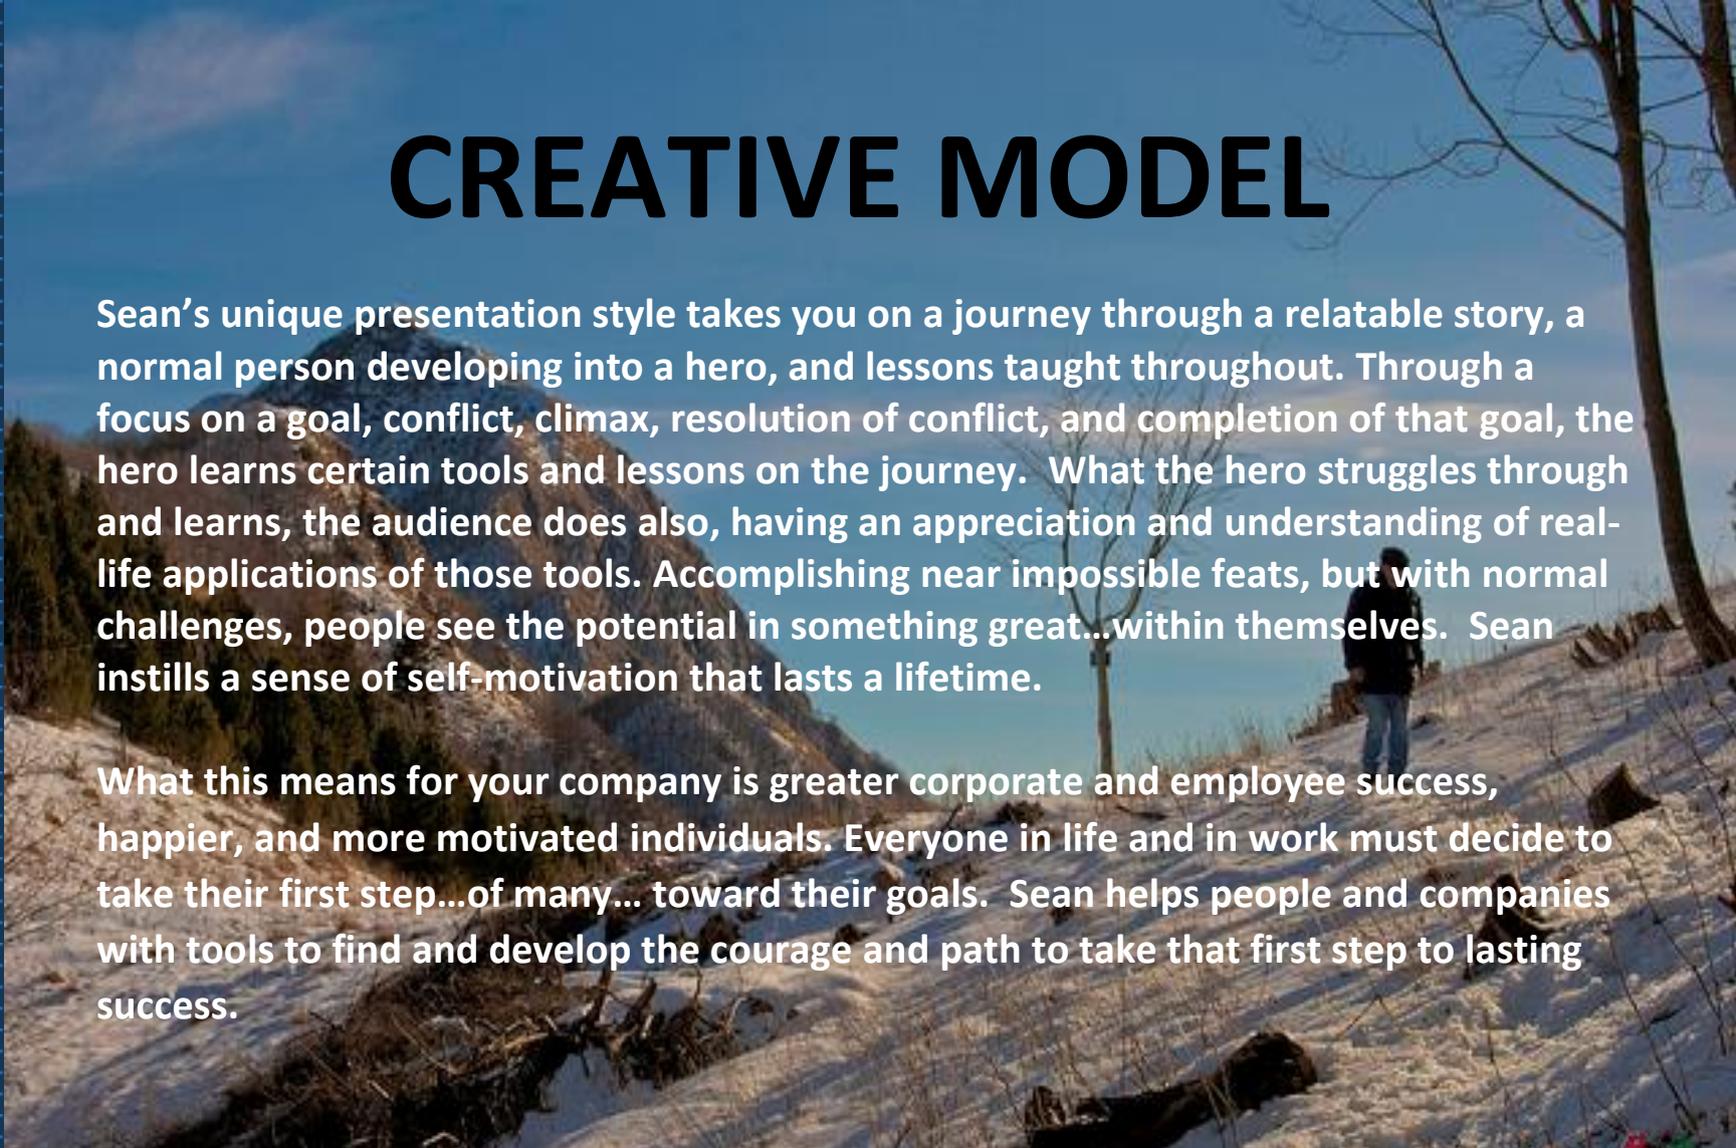

Sean's history and achievements create an ability to relate with anyone dreaming of goals, motivation, and ultimately personal and/or corporate success. Sean has taken individuals and corporations around the world from lethargy to complete self-motivation and reliance. Working with Sean and developing unique relationships with clients, a custom-designed program and experience for success is formulated.

"His talk was the highlight of the weekend."

"We couldn't have asked for a better start to our program, and he put the icing on the cake."

"Sean is the first and only speaker from our annual meetings to receive all high ratings!!"

CREATIVE MODEL

A person in a dark jacket and blue jeans stands on a snowy mountain slope, looking towards a large mountain peak in the distance under a clear blue sky. The foreground is covered in snow with some dark, bare branches and logs scattered around.

Sean's unique presentation style takes you on a journey through a relatable story, a normal person developing into a hero, and lessons taught throughout. Through a focus on a goal, conflict, climax, resolution of conflict, and completion of that goal, the hero learns certain tools and lessons on the journey. What the hero struggles through and learns, the audience does also, having an appreciation and understanding of real-life applications of those tools. Accomplishing near impossible feats, but with normal challenges, people see the potential in something great...within themselves. Sean instills a sense of self-motivation that lasts a lifetime.

What this means for your company is greater corporate and employee success, happier, and more motivated individuals. Everyone in life and in work must decide to take their first step...of many... toward their goals. Sean helps people and companies with tools to find and develop the courage and path to take that first step to lasting success.

CLIENTS

TAYLOR

ONGOING PROJECTS

The CancerClimber Association
Kilimanjaro Project
South Pole Expedition
North Pole Expedition
Keep Climbing Podcast
Corporate Spokesperson
Corporate Team Leader

your first step is never your last

